

Permission To Create User Manuals based on Copyright Protected Original Technical Documentation from Hatteland Technology

We, Hatteland Technology AS - Norway, give permission to our business partners* to issue own user manuals based on Hatteland Technology copyright protected documents.

These user manuals must not be branded as a Hatteland Technology document, and must clearly state the name, brand and lay-out of the issuing company.

It must clearly state, in English, the following text in the preface of the documentation:

"This user manual is based on the original copyright protected document from Hatteland Technology AS – Eikeskogvegen 52 - Aksdal. "My company" (write your company name) is fully responsible for the content of this document, and Hatteland Technology holds no responsibility for this content."

NOTE:

We recommend all users of user manuals that are based on technical documentation from Hatteland Technology, to access regularly our website www.hattelandtechnology.com and download the latest version of the original document.
